

VENZELOS TAKES PROFFERED POST

Agrees to Represent New Greek Government in Allied Capitals

MILITARY RULE IN ATHENS

Paris, Sept. 30.—M. Venizelos has telegraphed to Athens his acceptance of the invitation extended by the revolutionary committee to take up the task of defending Greece's interests in the allied capitals.

Shortly after sending the message he left for London, where he hopes to see Viscount Curzon, their Foreign Secretary, some time today.

M. Venizelos, reply to the revolutionary committee thanked the new government warmly for its confidence in him and put him on record as agreeing to undertake the task of defending the political program of the present Greek Government.

His decision immediately to associate himself with the revolutionary government is believed to be based upon reports sent him from Athens by his former associates, as seen the French Foreign Office, and thought that under the circumstances he was unlikely to accept for the present.

It was felt in political circles here that the allied position of Greece in Thrace to the Turks would make it impossible for him to comply, as the avowed aim of the Greek revolutionists is to retain Thrace.

London, Sept. 30.—(By A. P.)—Former Premier Venizelos of Greece has arrived in London from Paris and declares his intention of remaining here for several weeks with the exception of such short trips to France as may be necessary.

Upon his arrival he said his visit was connected with "private affairs," and declared it was quite untrue he had been asked to visit the foreign office.

Allying to his possible return to Athens, he refused to comment further than to remark: "You already know of the communication I have received from the committee of the revolutionary committee in charge of the Greek Government."

Athens, Sept. 30.—(By A. P.)—Alexandros Zaimis, who was Premier when Constantine was expelled from Greece in 1917 and whose father headed the Greek cabinet when King George was deposed by the revolution of 1922, has been selected to head the new cabinet which is composed of independents.

The Greek royal family will leave for Corfu tomorrow. The Italian Government is expected to install them at Palermo, Sicily.

A favorable impression was created by the proclamation of the revolutionary committee that the arrested political and military leaders should remain in prison, but that the manner of their trial shall be left to the future national assembly.

The French and English Ministers emphasized to the committee that trials of these persons before a revolutionary tribunal would create a bad impression throughout Europe and suggested that the committee should consider a trial held by the future national assembly.

The Revolutionary Committee's determination to sit in supervision over the acts of the Cabinet until a government founded on the will of the people, as expressed by elections, can come into being is based on the idea that the vital interests of the nation demand such procedure.

Magazine Section FEATURES IN TOMORROW'S SUNDAY PUBLIC LEDGER

"And Kipling Said—" So the woman says, but Kipling says he didn't. A description of this "most deadly of the species."

She "Swiped" a President's Clothes It was his habit to bathe, a natural in the Potomac. She wanted an interview for her paper. She got it.

Three Great Personalities That Will Never Die You can talk over the phone without commemorating two of them.

Heaped With Honors Now Where They Agonized in Neglect The Valley Forge Memorial Chapel is the life work of Dr. W. Herbert Burk.

The Most Bloodthirsty Cannibal of the Sea A rival of the shark, but fortunately not as common.

Balmyle's Wife A domestic triangle, told by Kenneth Burrow.

A Little Cure for Bachelors A delightful story by Hugh Walpole.

$50.00 in Cash Prizes in the Comic Section "What Are These People Saying?"

Hot News From Outman, Ariz. Homer Balmyle—Louis Hanston

ALL this, the beautiful Rotogravure Section and the Six-Page All-Star Comic Section, are in addition to the comprehensive news section of this week's SUNDAY PUBLIC LEDGER

"Make It a Habit"

Kemal Shuts Door to Peace in East

Continued from Page One

Labor throughout the country is up in arms against the idea of a new war, and though a final decision has not been made, there have been sinister rumors of industrial action to prevent prosecution of a campaign against the Turks.

The general anxiety of the British people is deepened by the prospect of additions to the already enormous taxes which are a legacy of the World War. It is feared that the British people will be unable to bear the preparatory measures for war, such as the moving of troops, stores and warships to the Near East, already have cost £20,000,000.

There is an unconfirmed rumor that Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, dismissed at the end of the current year, is preparing a budget program, has threatened to resign.

Anzora, Sept. 30.—(By A. P.)—The National Assembly is debating the terms of the Ankara Government's reply to the allied peace proposals. The reply is expected to be ready for transmission to the Allies by the middle of next week.

Yussuf Kemal Bey, Turkish Nationalist Foreign Minister, has protested to the Allies against the alleged atrocities and destruction of private property directed against the Muslims in Thrace. He also has protested against the Turkish army which invades Thrace and protect its compatriots suffering oppression from the enemy's army of occupation.

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—(By A. P.)—The situation between the British and the Turkish Nationalists was extremely tense today.

A note from Mustafa Kemal Pasha to Lieutenant General Kerim Pasha, British commander, couched in a hostile and insulting manner. It was a military order, as closing the door to a pacific settlement of the Straits question. The prospect of an armed conflict is considered more evident than ever.

The note of Kemal demands the retirement of all the British troops from the Asiatic side of the Straits, as the British and Italian troops in Smyrna are being ordered to leave the city by the Nationalist forces "slightly" from the neutral zone.

It also demands the cessation of all British military operations in Constantinople in dealing with the Turkish population and a solemn undertaking that the British will not be allowed to pass the Dardanelles. It concludes with a protest against the destruction of Turkish war material in the Straits.

More British Troops Land Several thousand British infantrymen have been landed here from transports at the port of Anzora, in the Aegean Sea, and are being moved to the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, which the British will defend in the event the Turkish Nationalist army at Ismid begins a move toward Constantinople.

The British army is understood to consist of two divisions.

When the German fleet entered the Golden Horn, the masses of the population became visible from the city. The immense gatherings of Greeks and Armenians seeking visas outside the British consular building, outside the British consular building, outside the British consular building.

The continued arrival of British war units have lessened the danger of an uprising within the city and checked the panic-stricken flight of Christians to neighboring countries.

It is feared that only a radical modification of Kemal's bellicose attitude can avert a clash between the British and the Turks.

British batteries ready Six submarines of the British Atlantic Fleet have arrived and will be used to prevent the transport of Turkish troops across the Sea of Marmara in the event of war between the British and the Turks. The batteries are posted in strategic positions on the heights of Chanikya, eastward of Smyrna, and at Mal-Tepeli on the Hellespont, facing Prinkipo.

These positions are on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, a short distance from Constantinople.

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

Mustapha Kemal told his visitor, "I have purposely delayed my return to Anzora to discuss the present situation with you."

REASONABLE DOUBT IN PATERNITY TRIAL

"Reasonable Doubt" Results in Decision Against Mrs. Tiernan

PROSECUTION TO APPEAL

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30.—Harry Poulin, a local haberdasher, charged by Mrs. Augusta Tiernan and her husband with being the father of her third child, was found not guilty in city court here today.

Judge Duobom made it plain in his comment that he found the defendant "not guilty" in the strict sense of the word. He said he believed there had been intimate relations between Mrs. Tiernan and Poulin. The fact, however, that Prof. Tiernan had lived with his wife throughout the entire affair created the reasonable doubt that made it legally compulsory to find for the defendant.

Prosecutor Floyd Jellison and Prof. Tiernan announced after Judge Duobom had rendered his opinion that the case would be appealed and carried to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary.

Mrs. Tiernan fainted as she was leaving the court room and was taken to a nearby hospital.

The decision was a great surprise to Mrs. Tiernan. "It went completely against me," she declared. "I was sure I would win."

The men not only declined to move, but ordered Magistrate Carney away and threatened to throw his roadster in a ditch. That aroused Carney's wrath. He arrested one man and Traffic Patrolman Hank took charge of the other.

They gave their names as C. Grant Isaac, Ralph B. Marshall, both of Washington; Frank J. Russell, of New York; and Peacock, both of Clifton Heights.

Marshall, owner and driver of the machine, was held in $800 bail after Police Sergeant Peacock told Magistrate Carney that the prisoner was intoxicated when he was arrested.

Russell and Peacock were sentenced to ten days each in jail. Two pints of liquor were found in the car.

Isaac testified that during the altercation he was asleep in the automobile and knew nothing of the affair. Magistrate Renshaw discharged him.

Audenreid Frowns on "Palace" Plans

Continued from Page One

$1,000,000, but eventually cost $13,000,000.

"Five million dollars is spoken of as the cost of the proposed court building," said Mr. Develin, "but apparently that is for a mere shell. What are the cost of the decorations and the furnishings? How much will they cost?"

Mr. Develin reminded the judges that Mayor Moore had lopped $300,000 from the Municipal Court budget and the Municipal Court had cut down the number of its employees. He argued that his space requirements therefore were not as great as was contended.

Room 410 of the City Hall was crowded with prominent men and women, interested in the arguments. Morris L. Clodder, Ell Kirk Price, chairman of the Board of Managers of the House of Delegation, Councilman Hill and Traffic Commissioner J. J. O'Brien, publicly director of the Republican State Committee, were in the audience.

Wants Facts, Not Fancy

Judge Audenreid would not permit Mr. Hadley to speculate on the future borrowing capacity of the city. He remarked that he would not be a borrower of $5,000,000 for the "palace of justice."

Judge Audenreid emphasized that in considering the city's debt it must be remembered that the same taxpayers must bear the debt burden of the Philadelphia school district.

"The city, as such, may not be delinquent," asked Judge Audenreid. "Some whatever," the Controller said.

The Judge remarked that the County Commissioners are about to erect a building to house the County Court. He said that the County will then be in debt.

"What is the assessed valuation of real estate and other taxables?" he asked.

Mr. Hadley said the latest figures of the Board of Revision of Taxes place them as follows: Real estate, $2,278,000,000; personal property, $2,750,000,000; horses and other, $1,000,000,000.

What is the borrowing capacity of the city?" Judge Audenreid asked.

Mr. Hadley's estimate was $25,000,000.

"What is the present indebtedness of the school district which is superimposed upon the city and affects the same taxpayers?"

Mr. Hadley said about $12,500,000.

Against "Speculation"

As the Controller's testimony showed the heavy debt the city already has, William T. Connor, counsel for the County Commissioners, tried to offset the impression created. He suggested that Mr. Hadley should estimate what the city's borrowing capacity will be in the next few years.

Mr. Hadley is not a prophet," interrupted Judge Audenreid. "The public works and the city already has."

A model of the proposed "palace" stood in the courtroom. Plans for the building were prepared by John T. Wimprim.

Judge Audenreid last April dismissed a taxpayer's suit where the contention was raised the Department of Public Works and the city architect should have charge of the "palace" plans, and that the County Commissioners had no authority to engage an outside architect.

Mrs. Louise Jurist, who opposed the court plans last Saturday, asked leave to amplify her remarks. She stood on a

PENN'S NEW STADIUM

Franklin Field will appear in new fall raiment this afternoon to greet the Red and Blue team in its opening football game with Franklin and Marshall. Today 30,000 seats are available, and when the stadium is completed it will accommodate 51,000 spectators.

WET AUTOISTS FAIL TO OUTTALK CARNEY

Two Sent to Jail, One to Grand Jury After Argument With Magistrate

SLEUMBERER GETS FREE

Four men who were going to throw Magistrate Edward P. Carney's red automobile "into a ditch" shortly before midnight last night came to grief before Magistrate Coward today. Two were sent to jail and one was held to the grand jury.

The trouble occurred in Juniper street, near Walnut, and was occasioned by Magistrate Carney requesting the men to move their machine from the middle of the street.

The men not only declined to move, but ordered Magistrate Carney away and threatened to throw his roadster in a ditch. That aroused Carney's wrath. He arrested one man and Traffic Patrolman Hank took charge of the other.

They gave their names as C. Grant Isaac, Ralph B. Marshall, both of Washington; Frank J. Russell, of New York; and Peacock, both of Clifton Heights.

Marshall, owner and driver of the machine, was held in $800 bail after Police Sergeant Peacock told Magistrate Carney that the prisoner was intoxicated when he was arrested.

Russell and Peacock were sentenced to ten days each in jail. Two pints of liquor were found in the car.

Isaac testified that during the altercation he was asleep in the automobile and knew nothing of the affair. Magistrate Renshaw discharged him.

Audenreid Frowns on "Palace" Plans

Continued from Page One

$1,000,000, but eventually cost $13,000,000.

"Five million dollars is spoken of as the cost of the proposed court building," said Mr. Develin, "but apparently that is for a mere shell. What are the cost of the decorations and the furnishings? How much will they cost?"

Mr. Develin reminded the judges that Mayor Moore had lopped $300,000 from the Municipal Court budget and the Municipal Court had cut down the number of its employees. He argued that his space requirements therefore were not as great as was contended.

Room 410 of the City Hall was crowded with prominent men and women, interested in the arguments. Morris L. Clodder, Ell Kirk Price, chairman of the Board of Managers of the House of Delegation, Councilman Hill and Traffic Commissioner J. J. O'Brien, publicly director of the Republican State Committee, were in the audience.

Wants Facts, Not Fancy

Judge Audenreid would not permit Mr. Hadley to speculate on the future borrowing capacity of the city. He remarked that he would not be a borrower of $5,000,000 for the "palace of justice."

Judge Audenreid emphasized that in considering the city's debt it must be remembered that the same taxpayers must bear the debt burden of the Philadelphia school district.

"The city, as such, may not be delinquent," asked Judge Audenreid. "Some whatever," the Controller said.

The Judge remarked that the County Commissioners are about to erect a building to house the County Court. He said that the County will then be in debt.

"What is the assessed valuation of real estate and other taxables?" he asked.

Mr. Hadley said the latest figures of the Board of Revision of Taxes place them as follows: Real estate, $2,278,000,000; personal property, $2,750,000,000; horses and other, $1,000,000,000.

What is the borrowing capacity of the city?" Judge Audenreid asked.

Mr. Hadley's estimate was $25,000,000.

"What is the present indebtedness of the school district which is superimposed upon the city and affects the same taxpayers?"

Mr. Hadley said about $12,500,000.

DOUGLASS WILL OPPOSE PINCHOT

Progressives Name Former Pittsburgh Mayor as Candidate for Governor

ORGANIZATION SEES TRICK

The Progressive Party, organized to give Congressman Burke another opportunity to run for the Senate, certified the name of John Douglas, former clerk of courts in Pittsburgh, as its candidate for Governor today.

Douglas is the Oliver candidate for the mayoralty nomination in Pittsburgh. He is a member of the Art Jury.

It has approved the preliminary plans for the whole group of buildings.

"Suppose the county should stop short and not build any more than the south wing. Would that be acceptable to the art jury?" Judge Audenreid asked.

Mr. Price showed his own negativity and said the south wing alone would look like a detached arm.

President Judge Brown said he did not want to inject himself into the proceedings, but that the Municipal Court could not function properly for lack of space. He told of the court's present quarters and said that even with the crowded conditions, 71 per cent of the court cases were settled outside the courtroom.

The south wing alone, Judge Brown said further, would not relieve the present congestion.

"That might be turned over to the County Commissioners," he answered.

Gaffney Cites Figures

Councilman Gaffney, commenting on the figures advanced by Mr. Hadley, said that $200,000 more would be needed in unexpended certificates which could be set off against the city's indebtedness.

The finance chairman asserted the cost of construction would be $1,000,000 more than the $2,000,000 already has been appropriated and the balance could be voted a million at a time. A million a year would mean only a quarter of a cent on the tax rate.

"Even if we need $25,000,000 for the water supply, the entire amount would not be appropriated at once," he said.

"We all know Rome was not built in a day," Judge Audenreid remarked. "Even his magnificent City Hall took twenty years to build."

The Judge then ordered court adjourned. As he did Mr. Develin hurried forward and asked the indulgence of the judges. "Court was reopened and the Courtroom then spoke of the ultimate costs of the State capitol."

It would be idle to speculate on what the proposed court structure would eventually cost," Mr. Develin said. "I am not attacking the work of the Municipal Court, but it is entirely too extravagant."

The councilman argued that if the Mayor spent $200,000 more each in the future budget and if Council discovered unless jobs on the court payroll, the court does not need such room.

Mr. Gaffney asked leave to reply to Mr. Develin but Judge Audenreid asserted he did not want to hear a debate on the Mayor's message. Adjournment was ordered.

The destroyers will supplement the American naval forces in European waters which now consist of twelve vessels, including eight destroyers and two submarine chasers. The battleship Flag, flagship of the European squadron, now is enroute to Gibraltar, with Vice Admiral Andrew T. Long, commander in European waters, on board.

The Flag will be relieved by the armored cruiser Pittsburgh in a couple of weeks and Admiral Long will transfer his flag.

WARSHIPS TO SAIL MONDAY

Destroyers Will Protect U. S. Interests at Constantinople

Washington, Sept. 30.—(A. P.)—The two destroyer divisions of six destroyers each, ordered to proceed from Norfolk to Constantinople for the protection of American interests in the Turkish straits, will sail Monday noon, Captain C. M. Towner, who will command the squadron, today notified the navy department.

The destroyers will supplement the American naval forces in European waters which now consist of twelve vessels, including eight destroyers and two submarine chasers. The battleship Flag, flagship of the European squadron, now is enroute to Gibraltar, with Vice Admiral Andrew T. Long, commander in European waters, on board.

The Flag will be relieved by the armored cruiser Pittsburgh in a couple of weeks and Admiral Long will transfer his flag.

COUPLE REUNITED AS BABY SMILES

Mrs. Caldwell Is Happy Now That She Has Regained Love of Her Husband

Mrs. Alice T. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.

What is more, she has gained her husband's love, which she says she values far more than the $150,000 which she was asking from William D. Nelson, an attorney, whom she had accused of alienating her husband's affections.

It was the birthdays of their baby yesterday. On the anniversary Mr. Caldwell went to his wife's home, the latter says, admitted that he was in the wrong and pleaded for forgiveness.

Mrs. Caldwell's attorney had alleged that Mr. Nelson, "through innuendoes and malicious statements, had estranged the affections of the husband. Through the first steps of the suit the husband had remained away from Mrs. Caldwell except when he brought her presents and called at 4307 Walnut street to see her baby."

Mrs. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.

What is more, she has gained her husband's love, which she says she values far more than the $150,000 which she was asking from William D. Nelson, an attorney, whom she had accused of alienating her husband's affections.

It was the birthdays of their baby yesterday. On the anniversary Mr. Caldwell went to his wife's home, the latter says, admitted that he was in the wrong and pleaded for forgiveness.

Mrs. Caldwell's attorney had alleged that Mr. Nelson, "through innuendoes and malicious statements, had estranged the affections of the husband. Through the first steps of the suit the husband had remained away from Mrs. Caldwell except when he brought her presents and called at 4307 Walnut street to see her baby."

Mrs. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.

What is more, she has gained her husband's love, which she says she values far more than the $150,000 which she was asking from William D. Nelson, an attorney, whom she had accused of alienating her husband's affections.

It was the birthdays of their baby yesterday. On the anniversary Mr. Caldwell went to his wife's home, the latter says, admitted that he was in the wrong and pleaded for forgiveness.

Mrs. Caldwell's attorney had alleged that Mr. Nelson, "through innuendoes and malicious statements, had estranged the affections of the husband. Through the first steps of the suit the husband had remained away from Mrs. Caldwell except when he brought her presents and called at 4307 Walnut street to see her baby."

Mrs. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.

What is more, she has gained her husband's love, which she says she values far more than the $150,000 which she was asking from William D. Nelson, an attorney, whom she had accused of alienating her husband's affections.

It was the birthdays of their baby yesterday. On the anniversary Mr. Caldwell went to his wife's home, the latter says, admitted that he was in the wrong and pleaded for forgiveness.

Mrs. Caldwell's attorney had alleged that Mr. Nelson, "through innuendoes and malicious statements, had estranged the affections of the husband. Through the first steps of the suit the husband had remained away from Mrs. Caldwell except when he brought her presents and called at 4307 Walnut street to see her baby."

Mrs. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.

What is more, she has gained her husband's love, which she says she values far more than the $150,000 which she was asking from William D. Nelson, an attorney, whom she had accused of alienating her husband's affections.

It was the birthdays of their baby yesterday. On the anniversary Mr. Caldwell went to his wife's home, the latter says, admitted that he was in the wrong and pleaded for forgiveness.

Mrs. Caldwell's attorney had alleged that Mr. Nelson, "through innuendoes and malicious statements, had estranged the affections of the husband. Through the first steps of the suit the husband had remained away from Mrs. Caldwell except when he brought her presents and called at 4307 Walnut street to see her baby."

Mrs. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.

What is more, she has gained her husband's love, which she says she values far more than the $150,000 which she was asking from William D. Nelson, an attorney, whom she had accused of alienating her husband's affections.

It was the birthdays of their baby yesterday. On the anniversary Mr. Caldwell went to his wife's home, the latter says, admitted that he was in the wrong and pleaded for forgiveness.

Mrs. Caldwell's attorney had alleged that Mr. Nelson, "through innuendoes and malicious statements, had estranged the affections of the husband. Through the first steps of the suit the husband had remained away from Mrs. Caldwell except when he brought her presents and called at 4307 Walnut street to see her baby."

Mrs. Caldwell is happy today with her family, reunited after more than a month of separation, after a long and painful separation.</